

Transcription

"Every feeling of my heart is for my own Section"

Perine Store Jany 11 1861

Dear Thomas:

The very great necessity for money induces me to request you as a personal favor of no little magnitude, to try to make some arrangement by which I can, at an early day, get the amt. of my claim as Prest. of the D. & W. T Co.—Upon examination of my acct. & by reference to your books, I find the Company indebted to me the 1st. inst. about $302—and I do assure you it would be doing me a very great kindness to procure me the amt—Surely that much can be paid—I have no idea there will be any contracts made this year for the Construction of any more of our road, & of course there will be no call for the money, and as I have recieved but a very small proportion of my very small Salary, I am sure ye will agree with me that I ought to have it—and will confidently trust to your friendship to procure it for me—

We have nothing of interest transpiring in our region—all are awaiting with painful anxiety the developments of each bulletin of news—I most cordially endorse Govr. Letchers message—think he occupies the true ground—Yet if any possible good can result from a convention, let us by all means, have one—I however, greatly fear, that it is but a scheme of designing demagogues to hitch Va. on to the mad career, of So. Ca. I am for Southern rights, Southern honor and Southern institutions—every feeling of my heart is for my own Section. but I can not see how we in Va. can better our condition—how we are the better to preserve our rights—outside of the Union—and surely every patriotic heart in Va. would exhaust the last hope in diplomacy, before we would precipitate our state into all the horrors of a civil war—and he who can now do most to save us from this terrible calamity, will richly deserve to be stood along side with Washington in the hearts of the American people—but if all should fail, then let us be united—there should be no traitor in the borders of the Old Dominion, and I dare say it is the sentiment of all, that the state should be immediately placed in a condition of defence—yes—if needs be, let the musket be placed in the hand of every man, who is able to carry one & let not our very weakness, provoke the jeers and contempt of the adversary—

I shall be glad to hear from you, your views &c. of the state of things which now exist in our Country—and what ye think will be done by our state—Very truly. Yr friend

WM. C. STAPLES

---

Citation: William Staples to Christopher Yancy Thomas, January 11, 1861, Gravelly Family Papers, Acc. 34126, Library of Virginia.